

Amid the gardens touch lights glimmering gay
The roses buds like turquise gems display With Ruby light the opening petals shine As Mantles in the cup the Rosy wine How softly beams the radiant lamp of night While earths dark Mansion glows with silver light And swiftly though the skys pavilion move The airy dancers of the fields above While from the Ocean of oethereal blue

Celestial divers bring the starry gems to view In short at sunset the whole caravan went to rest and the half of the night was spent when I awoke and without saying a word to any body but Myself proceeded to reconnois--ter our situation I came without the lines when I was astonished to see the whole caravan surrounded by an immense wall what in the world in this said I to Myself when we pitched our tents here no such thing was to be seen what can this be I approached it and put My hand on the wall I felt a part of it soft and warm and distinctly perceived the Motion of breathing Lord have Mercy thought If this be not a living creature To be more certain I held my hand still for some time and observed at last that it was an immense serpent which
