and dancers to entertain the Monarch with suitable respect They shall be sent back at the close of the entertainment if Ansar Shah grant this favor to his daughters She will ever be bound to him in all devo-tion.

This letter was dispatched by one of her confidential servants and in an instant was presented with due respect at the Durbar of Ansar Shah Ansar Shah pleased the letter and in fury tore it to pieces "Musicians and dancers said he no I will not send he so much as one hair of a day The Messenger of Ghete Afroz wished herself only safe out of the presence but the elder brother of the princess felt all his affection for her revive and knurling before his father he began to petition for his sister To incur blame is the fate of the inferior but to pardon offences in the glory of the superior."

If Justice vengeful that a fault is done all due proportion in her wrath returns Which canst thou say will deeper blame deserve Who errs himself or bids the law to overrule
