

order as human skill could never attain "Gracious said the Shah the Paradise above and the beautiful Hours can never be equal this in beauty" they walked through the garden about an hour and whenever they went Rukh afra and Zok angez attended him with garden flaggons and goblets of emeralds and jacinth and wherever they halld present cups of wine better luck could never betide them Psheti afroz said to the Shah "Lest Your Majesty should feel yourself or lonely here I will present you with Rukh afra for a companion -

See the sable night advancing See the beauteous Pleads dancing Night pale queen does westward turn To seek her radiant lord the sun

When the Fawn feather of Night darkened the day Danish Baik whispered in the Kings ear that it it was now time to retire the Shah agreed and shortly after told Psheti afroz that next month if he had her permission he would have the honor of waiting on her If I have any influence over you whatever replied she