

In short it baffled all powers of description to describe the Magnificence and splendor of the ceremonies with which the noble Maid was wedded to the young prince and the planet Jupiter united with the Moon of beauty They brought her home with all manner of mirth and magnificence and Gheto afox likewise having taken leave of her Mother father and Mother came to her palace and spent some hours in pleasant conference with Melech Mahommed The luckless lover said in his passion

When all are resting in joys One only grief my heart employs One only thought my spirit fills Yet fortune to increase the ills Which on my tortured bosom prey Has stolen my hapless Kifs away
The fair to please him pledged him in some cups saying What would you heartless lover say If fortune stole myself away Gheto afox showed him great affection and Melech Mahommed took With water from the crystal lake
You promised first my thirst to slake
I seized the tempting draught in haste
And again in the same train Ah pierce not then the heart again
A thousand times already slain
