

Vile world my soul by grief oppress Curses the time she was thy guest This he muttered as he passed along the Kings spy however came up to him and entreated him not to mention that he had discovered that his motions were watched and then remained behind Diu Fay came into the presence of the Shah who desired him to enter He made his salutations The King said "warrior you have been along time about this business what was the occasion of the noise," he answered it was an old woman who had quarrelled with her husband and I have reconcited them The Shah perceived that Diu Fay was affected with profound sorrow and retained something on his mind when the spy returned the King asked what was the matter and heard the whole circumstances of the case The mind of the Shah was appressed with this uncommon act of fidelity and he said O Diu Fay you have done a deed which nobody ever said before Then taking his hand they set out to gether in quest of that ancient Man and