

She I will not dispence with your company to night The Shah was exceedingle rejoiced at the proposal.

Inflamed with wine inflamed with love How could he frame the banquet move

His maudlin eyes with nector shine

He pants for her who hands the wine

He turned to Danish Bait and muttered there can be no great harm in staying a single night "As your Majesty pleases said the vizir this Resolution was equally agreeable to all parties and the princeps having taken the hands of the Shah the vizir and her lover conducted them to see the chambers The first chamber they intered was splendidly illuminated with castres of jewels each of which was worth an empire in value In that chamber they found a beautiful damsel of fourteen years of age whose cheks were brought as the circle of the sun and whose Name was derived from the honied sherbet which distilled from her lips.

That fair if nights refulgent queen In all her loveliness had seen Fram
