

written cry aloud may you all be cut to peices by virtue of the power of God and the prophet Suliman Instantly by the power of almighty God their hands and their feet were separated and their heads tumbled from their bodies Those of our company that remained alive were filled with joy and wonder then I having mounted the lady we proceeded on our journey after some days we arrived in the vicinity of Herman and the king being informed of his daughters arrival sent all the city out to meet her The princeps entered the city amid their gratulations and threw herself at the feet of her father and related from first to last all that had befallen her The Shah sent for me into the presence and entreated me with the highest honor I remained some days with him and then requested permission to take my leave The princeps said to her father by no means permit him to depart but unite him to me in marriage when I heard this proposition I was totally confounded and almost lost my senses Instantly left the city and when I had proceeded
