a certain space we arrived at the foot of hill and I saw hole in the side of it of such a dimension that the serpent could enter with facility when he arrived at the Mouth of the den he let me down from his back and made me a sign to go in fairly and softly thought I this whole no doubt is your den but why should you so particularly wish me to visit it however said In Gods Name let me enter in I went but nothing earthly was visible I presently turned on my heel and met my friend at the Mouth of the den He made me a sign as much as to say have the goodness to walk back again and kept biting his lips most terribly with his teeth which being interpreted was to denote Kile in all or some thing of the kind at least Doubtless thought I this must be some Monsters Mansion and what a frightful brute must it be that a beast like you is afraid of the very thought of it put me in a cold shiver If such a pertulent Monster as you be frightened the Lord have Mercy on my luckless soul I may well be terrified
